

THE THIRD FORUM ON Sustainable Agriculture:

Building Regenerative Local Food Systems

Our series addresses how the agriculture sector is confronting the challenge of feeding a growing and increasingly affluent population while improving environmental and social performance and contributing to climate change mitigation and adaptation.

Thursday, April 27, 2017

2:00 to 5:30 p.m.

Schapiro Hall (CEPSR)
Davis Auditorium (Room 412, 4th Floor)
Columbia University

RSVP required:
earth.columbia.edu/events

For more information:
Brian Hong, bwh2129@columbia.edu

MODERATOR:

Jeffrey Potent, Adjunct Professor, The Earth Institute and Columbia University School of International and Public Affairs

SPEAKERS:

Ruth DeFries, Denning Professor of Sustainable Development, The Earth Institute, Columbia University

Michael Kinstlick, CEO, Coopersea Distillery in Ulster County, New York

Paul Helgeson, Former sustainability manager, GNP Company, a regional poultry processor and distributor located in St. Cloud, Minnesota

The forum will be LIVE-STREAMED:

<https://livestream.com/EarthInstitute/sustainableagriculture2017>

